THE HARROW FOOTERS TEAM - 1871

OLD HARROVIANS FOOTBALL CLUB

1st XI squad – Arthur Dunn Cup Final 2007

- Alex Fraysse
(Goalkeeper) – Alex is the new Harrow goalkeeper and as such has yet to be awarded a nickname. Tall, agile and a fine shot-stopper, perhaps his greatest asset is his ability to marshal the defence with an authority that belies his tender years. Promotes a nightclub in the West End so will be in the squad for the foreseeable future regardless of performance on the pitch.
- Nick Warner
(Defender) – ‘Wowner’ or ‘Colin Sac’ - so-called because of his love of running into cul-de-sacs on a football pitch. Unfathomable positional play allied to dwindling pace make him one tough cookie. The team medic, his range of tapes and sprays and knowledge of physiotherapy have often allowed him to play when suffering crippling injuries such as ‘slightly long toenail’ or ‘watch strap chafing.’
- Charlie Tweddle
(Defender) – ‘Twoaldwo’. A typical full-back, Charlie is physical, quick and quite short. Equally uncomfortable on either flank, he has developed into a solid right-footed left-back and a flaky left-footed right-back. Charles regularly breaks his own club record for the number of headers attempted below knee-height in one season. He stutters a lot when excited.
- Rowley Higgs
(Defender) – ‘Ohhhhh Rowwwley’. A modern centre-half who would rather play his way out of trouble than hoof it into row Z, Rowley makes the difficult look easy and the easy look virtually impossible. Excellent distribution skills and ability to talk a good game make up for chronic lack of pace and turning circle to rival the QE2. Rowley is seven feet tall in high heels.
- Jamie Waugh
(Defender) – A former school captain, ‘Mr Versatile’ has played in every outfield position for the side this season, sometimes in the space of one game. Main strengths include stamina, ability to read a game and knack of scoring important goals when playing up front. Weaknesses include being far too nice to people, living in north London and getting injured on a frequent basis.
- Ed Thorn
(Defender) – ‘The Mugger’ (due to his love of wearing hooded tops) is an old-fashioned, no-nonsense centre-half whose sheer physical strength and desire to prove himself make him a feared opponent throughout the league. Strong in the air, average on the ground and unknown when it comes to the water, Ed takes his winning attitude into training where shinpads quickly become de rigeur. Favourite game: Fives Alive.
- Ed Poulter
(Defender) – ‘Poulter’ is a tough-tackling but composed centre-half. A committed club man, he never goes on holiday during the season, especially if there is a big game coming up, and takes a great interest in the other teams, especially the 2nd XI. Very reserved and unsure of himself, Ed never gets into petty arguments and always welcomes advice from teammates with open arms. Loves playing pirates.
- Tim Dalton
(Defender) – ‘Timmy D’ has missed most of this season with injury, a crying shame for one of the top defenders in the League. Tall, quick, with Inspector Gadget telescopic legs that extend on request, most strikers find playing against him a fruitless chore. A true gentleman, Tim has never raised his voice in anger, never argued with an official and never let unwanted food go to waste – he once arrived on tour with a separate suitcase solely containing supplies of Dairyalea, Jammy Dodgers and orange Capri-Sun drinks.
- Piers Bourke
(Midfield) – ‘Mini Johnny’ is an artist both on and off the pitch. A flying left-winger who rivals Warner for finding the least useful spaces on a football pitch, he gains kudos for executing at least 15 Cruyff turns per game. Ginger and balding, he is just the man to stand next to in a bar when on the pull. Famed for his monkey-like arm movements and owns a mini computer. A Scot, Piers is related to James Bond star Hugo Drax.

- Quentin Baker
(Midfield) – ‘QB’ is the most successful OH skipper in history having led the team to the Division One and Premier Division titles and now into a first ever Dunn Cup Final. An up-and-down midfielder, Quen covers every blade of grass and pops up with some vital goals. Also pops up with some extraordinary expressions on the pitch, including his two favourites: ‘dink me’ and ‘touch me’. Now greying at the sides, the stress of looking after Molloy, Bourke and the Hoffens for a number of years is beginning to take its toll. ‘Quing-Pong’ is the hairiest member of the squad.
- Paul Molloy
(Midfield) – ‘The Menace’ is the team practical joker, but performs all his hilarious gags ‘in a nice way’. Our holding midfielder plays the game with finesse, possessing excellent technique and a fine range of passing. ‘Buttons’ reads the game better than most, especially when he is not too busy telling Poulter & Lederman to shut up. This Slough native turns black in the sun, Chinese when drunk and into a complete liability on his birthday, which seems to occur about once a month, usually on Saturday nights. Loves business centres, especially abroad.
- David Lederman
(Midfield) – ‘Webby’ is the team’s hard man, always up for a battle, always first into the 50-50’s and never shirks an aerial challenge. A once-flying right-winger, he is now mainly content to operate within a 10m radius just inside his own half and fire nonchalant 60 yard passes to no-one in particular. Deadly from set-pieces, ‘The Belly’ is also deadly in Marks & Spencer, with items such as ‘sauce bearnaise’ and ‘poultry gravy’ regularly on his shopping list. Also last year became the first OH to order Lobster Thermidor whilst on tour.
- Harry Hoffen
(Striker) – ‘H’ is the team’s talismanic striker and social secretary, equally at home in the six-yard box as he is in the queue to Boujis or Raffles. Blistering pace combined with a complete lack of a (footballing) brain mean that working out what he will do next is nigh on impossible for either the opposition or any of his teammates. Possessor of the biggest forehead in the club, his favourite shout on the football pitch is : “NO AFTERS.” Harry never, ever dives.
- Rupert Hoffen
(Striker) – ‘The Hoff’, as he likes to be known, is a mercurial striker but he has neither the pace nor guile of his younger brother. He does however possess a much cooler head in front of goal, an ability to hold the ball up and an extensive range of silk neckerchiefs that allow him to peddle expensive properties in Knightsbridge. Releases a few too many ‘Category A prisoners’ in the changing room and wears Aviator sunglasses in public. Can’t control the ball when it is around chest height and turns bright maroon when annoyed.
- Freddy Brunt
(Striker) – ‘Chippy’ is a skillful winger or striker. He is also unusual for an OH forward in that he takes most of his chances, although his early ratio of a goal a game has long since been forgotten. A Newcastle University student, Freddy is keeping fit by training for tomorrow’s London Marathon and sticking religiously to a diet of just vegetable soup, by far his favourite food. Freddy speaks Portuguese and so might work in Nando’s when he graduates. Spicy!
- Ed Martins
(Midfield) – ‘Mr Ed’ is another former school captain who last year became the only Harrovian to form part of the Independent Schools England football team. A ‘touch’ player, Ed is most comfortable in the attacking third of the pitch where his skills hurt opponents the most. A quiet type, Ed is studying engineering at Imperial University and hoping to design some nice bridges when he grows up.

The Finalists

The two finalists Old Bradfieldians and Old Harrovians have never won the Arthur Dunn Cup. In the history of the competition there have only been four previous occasions when neither finalist had won the Arthur Dunn Cup, in 1903, 1907, 1913 and in more recent times 1980 when the Old Chigwellians defeated Lancing Old Boys 4-2.

The Old Bradfieldians formed in 1884, were one of the founder sides of the Arthur Dunn Cup competition and are appearing in their sixth final, in 1936 they lost 2-0 to the Old Carthusians, 1937 they lost 4-1 to the Old Salopians, 1969 they lost 1-0 to the Old Malvernians, 1978 they lost 4-1 to the Old Malvernians and in 2001 they lost 4-1 to the Old Carthusians. Stuart Dennis and Andy White played in the 2001 Final, the rest of the team are playing in thier first Final. They have had a very successful season winning the First Division of the Arthurian League.

The Old Harrovians were also one of the founder sides of the Arthur Dunn Cup having been formed in 1859, but have never appaead ina Final. In 1927 the Headmaster of Harrow School, Cyril Norwood, decided that soccer had been ruined by professionalism and so soccer was abolished at Harrow School, and the Old Harrovian football club was disbanded in 1931. The Club was reformed in 1967 when there was a general resurgence in soccer after England had won the World Cup in 1966, and soccer was reintroduced to the School in 1977 by David Elleray. Since 1967 the Old Harrovians have appeared in three semi-finals in 1984, 2001 and 2002. In 2001 they were beaten 1-0 by the Old Bradfieldians.
